The Exodus Means Leaving Mammon, Slavery To Material Conditions, Death—Symbolized By "Egypt." And It Means Seeking The Spiritual Promised Land Or Kingdom Of Which Jesus Spoke Often. On The Way Are Two Ordained Earthly Way Stations—Canaan (Now The Nation Of Israel), And America In Its High Vision Aspect (Not Its Super-Materialism)

A good start was made in the past, but it's a Continuing Trek involving Christians as well as Jews (Gal. 3:7; 29—see text below).

ANCIENT BACKGROUND

The Story Before The Exodus

Indicating the existence of a higher and spiritual realm, and a way upward, Enoch, before the Flood, had ascended.

Again indicating a higher and spiritual realm, and a way to get to it, Abram, after the Flood, was instructed to seek "a city...whose builder and maker is God," and a country that is "heavenly" (Heb. 11:8, 10, 16a).

In a mixture of high spiritual inspiration and practical material instructions for the time and for his comprehension, Abram went into Canaan. He had spiritual experiences there, and was renamed Abraham. His wife was renamed Sarah. Their son Isaac resulted from encounters with angels as men, again indicating a higher realm, and took place when she was 90, he 100. Isaac's son Jacob was born only after Rebekah had a spiritual healing of barrenness. Jacob had profound spiritual experiences and in one, the angel changed him and renamed him "Israel."

The physical land around Abraham was given to him and his "seed" by God (the size very large but subject to interpretation and of course the whole concept in all aspects is a major issue with the Arabs today).

Who are Abraham's "seed"?

And who are Abraham's "seed?" His descendants of course, with the seed counted in Isaac (Gen. 21:12; Rom. 9:7; Heb. 11:18) not in his descendants by Hagar, the Arabs.

But wait! That's not the whole story.

Are the Arabs cut out? The Bible certainly seems to cut out the Arabs, but at the end they are included in those blessed. In the end-times, they are first dealt a blow, but then healed, and they come into the Lord's camp. See Isaiah 19:21-25, including, "In that day shall Israel be ... a blessing in the midst of the land ... Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel mine inheritance."

Abraham's "seed" expanded to Christians after Jesus' Ascension

After Jesus, the tent was spread from just the Jews to the Gentiles including Christians. In Galatians, we read, "If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise (3:29 see also v. 7).

Please note that this states the connection and continuity between Jews and Christians. This is important to the role of America in the Continuing Exodus and the end-time (of evil) activities.

Back, then, to Jacob/Israel

As we all know, Jacob/Israel's son Joseph wound up second only to Pharaoh in Egypt, and was close to God. Jacob and his other sons and families came into Egypt for food during the famine.

Essentially from this move of Abrahamic Hebrews to Goshen came the major multiplication of Hebrews in Egypt—so many that the later Pharaoh feared their number, and enslaved them. (Were they all or mostly Abrahamic Hebrews? This is presumed to be so.)

Were the Hebrews there 400 years or four generations or somewhere in between? The Bible seems to present at least two accounts of the time, and these have been interpreted in different ways. But the Hebrews were enslaved, and later delivered, as we all know, by Moses under God's orders. (Note: Bible interpreters use for a "generation," 20, most often 40, years. But confusions about the word "generation" and only four generations, and 100 years, have caused some to use 100 years.)

Then and later, the Israelites (named so from Jacob/Israel and his twelve great-grandsons of Father Abraham leading the twelve tribes of Israel), the Abrahamic Hebrews prayed to the God of "Abraham, Isaac and Jacob."

The Initial Exodus—Leaving Egypt

How many left Egypt?

Again, the Bible indicates different numbers of those departing, some interpretations disagreeing about the meaning of, for example, the word "thousand."

In any event, many left. If "millions," then the crossing of the sea (and considering the animals also crossing) would have taken a very long time. So from a logistical standpoint, and also from the later camping standpoint, the figure was probably a lower, more workable one.

Also regarding numbers, how many Hebrews moved into Goshen, and how much multiplying could they have done in the various times they were said to have been there?

Crossing the sea

The work of Larry Williams and Bob Cornuke has fairly established that the crossing was from the lower Sinai across the neck of the Gulf of Aqaba on a wide shallow submerged plateau there (a "roadway" so shallow that, despite deep water on both sides, in modern times a cut had to be dredged for ship traffic).

The Gulf is the Edom or red in that sense, Edom meaning red, sea. And the Mountain of Moses, called that, and protected by wire and guarded by Arabs, is Jabal al Lawz just across the Gulf, fitting the Bible description exactly. Cornuke's TV documentaries by Grizzly Adams productions and Larry Williams' book are both exciting and well worth examining from biblical and historical standpoints. My vote is with the careful documentation of these two, who risked their necks and got "inside the wire" discovering many clear Bible identifiers.

Other interpretations have included crossing the "Reed Sea" or marshy shallows on a northern route above the Gulf of Suez and well above today's Red Sea, first into the Sinai, then later above today's Gulf of Aqaba into Midian.

As for wandering 40 years in the desert, that's more of an expression than a possible fact. They wandered indeed, and passed Mt. Sinai in the southern part of the Sinai Peninsula, and may have indeed camped there for a time, but then moved on. They spent most of the long experience camped elsewhere.

Entry (or reentry) into Canaan

After the forty years, Joshua led the Israelites back into Canaan. Jericho was indeed a battle, well-described in Scripture.

After that, the Bible speaks of destroying all the villages and killing a lot of people even women and children. However, the respected Hershel Shanks in his Ancient Israel compilation of writings by many author/archaeologists on a wide band of ancient Middle Eastern history, says there's no evidence of such burning and slaughter, no charcoal layers and so on. So sometimes the Bible writers used terms of annihilation to merely indicate victory, perhaps as we say we "annihilated" and "utterly destroyed" a competing basketball team before everyone went out for pizza. Let's hope so. The Bible account is bloody, and we like to think more spiritual thoughts of our Israelites.

Not A Land Of Milk And Honey

Reentering Canaan perhaps about 1200 BCE, the land was divided by eleven of the tribes, the twelfth, Levi, being priestly, not having a material piece of land. Again we see open references to a higher, largely unseen, and better land.

The spiritual land is the real Promised Land, but Canaan is unquestionably ordained.

Canaan peaked circa 1000 in David's reign. It began its decline in Solomon's reign. Solomon is the writer of Proverbs, and considered to be the world's wisest man, and under God. But as time went on, and along with his position, he was also a big-time sensualist with countless wives (political, maybe not wives in a typical sense) and a big harem. The Song of Solomon isn't spiritual in my opinion, but a sensual paean. In the end, Solomon gave in to a major Goddess of his wives or concubines (all of which were allowed to keep their gods, goddesses and ceremonies, maybe to help keep them occupied—for there was no way Solomon could keep hundreds "occupied"), Ashtoreth, known throughout the Middle East under that and other names. The Bible also mentions Milcom, another goddess (I Ki. 11:1-8).

However, he built the Temple. We see glorious depictions of it, but there's no real record (see Shanks' Jerusalem's Temple Mount—From Solomon to the Golden Dome). It was probably much more modest than artists' renderings, although the courtyard terraces and walls certainly gave it grand dimensions especially for the times.

The outer court was for anyone, the priestly sacrifice court for animal slaughter to the God. The all-important holy of holies was the inner temple where sat the Ark of the Covenant, said to contain the two actual stone tablets of the Ten Commandments. The Ark was invested further with divine power. Its mere presence in military campaigns earlier had assured victory.

Copies made of the Ark

Because enemies naturally wanted to capture the Ark and thus neutralize the Israelite military power, copies were made. Today, there is speculation that the real Ark is in tunnels or vaults under the present-day Temple Mount in Jerusalem, access blocked by the Arab present owners or at least operators of the Mount with its Dome of the Rock and Al-Aqsa Mosque.

There's also speculation that the real Ark is in Ethiopia. And there are rumors of other locations. Did the son of Solomon and Sheba when grown, take the Ark to Ethiopia? There are stories of how the Ark was protected and moved by Knights Templar, and other romantic accounts. However, no one is certain if any Ark was the real one or one of the copies. It would be marvelous if the real one could be found and certified, and especially if the tablets were still in it.

Notes on the series of Jewish temples: In any event, the Temple was the center of Hebrew worship and the thing holding the whole Hebrew/Jewish/ and emerging Judaism religion, together. After its destruction by the Babylonians 586 BCE, a super-shock, it was partly rebuilt by returnees when they were released from Babylon. The naming of the temples is confused in many accounts, but Shanks clearly shows three, the original Solomon's, which was utterly destroyed, the rebuilt, which was the actual second, and Herod's (the one at the time of Jesus), as the actual third. HOWEVER, the name for Herod's as the SECOND TEMPLE has stuck and will stick, apparently, with presumably Herod's quite magnificent structure the second Second Temple. Shanks gives up and calls the rebuilt the "first second" temple. Others note that it started the "Second Temple period." Whatever was left of it was leveled as the Temple Mount was raised and extended by Arabs in later years when the Dome of the Rock was built.

An actual fourth?

We see today continuing interpretations of the rebuilding of "Solomon's" Temple, a new Jewish Temple, and on the Mount, and ... where the Dome of the Rock stands today. (One book says Solomon's didn't stand where the Dome stands, but at the southeast corner now overbuilt by the extended Mount, where part of the City of David is acknowledged to have been on that ridge.)

That Jerusalem will figure in the end-time (of evil) world struggles is prophesied in the Bible and by other writings. It may easily figure in a modern war; therefore don't dismiss it either as idea or fact. Everything about "Solomon's Temple" still has powerful legs so to speak, even in modern thought.

Assyrians And Babylonians

After David, who ruled a consolidated kingdom, the land was split in 926 into the northern Kingdom of Israel and the southern one of Judah, which had Jerusalem and the Temple.

The Assyrians struck the northern kingdom of Israel in 853 BCE by some accounts, but of course had been trouble in the north for a long time. The Assyrian invasion captured the northern kingdom and took away or drove off ten of the dozen tribes.

Mystical importance of the twelve tribes

The twelve tribes of Israel were once headed each by a son of Jacob/Israel, and named after that son.

So what? So there are many Bible references to these tribes. In Revelation, 12,000 from each, totaling the "144,000," are fast-tracked to heaven. The numbers may be figurative and the whole thing symbolic, but something special is there in biblical terms. Then again in Revelation, in the symbolic material depiction of the spiritual "holy city" coming down, or city foursquare, the twelve tribes are an integral part of the symbol, somehow (Rev. 21:10-12, 16a.).

There's some great meaning in the twelve tribes, but we have yet to put our finger on it. Certainly, the tribes themselves, and even some of the sons themselves, were not exactly shining examples. So we await further information from Above.

The storied ten "lost tribes of Israel" taken off by the Assyrians

Where did they go? They vanished, or did they? Many tales have arisen, but today there are some real facts from modern archeology and anthropology. Some say they moved in all directions, some say they were hauled away as captives, some say the major net of all this was an eventual movement generally up into Russia, Eastern Europe and Europe. In Russia and Europe, some were assimilated, but sadly, the various nations and populations kept them somewhat isolated, and subjected to containment as in the term "pales," and attacked in pogroms. (See more later below.)

Babylonians and the destruction of the Temple

Judah the southern of the two kingdoms had been allowed some autonomy. But when the Babylonians defeated the Assyrians, they took over Jerusalem. And they burned the Temple in 586 BCE.

And they took the population of Judah to Babylon, where we later have the accounts of Daniel and the three Children of Israel. The Israelites weren't slaves in the typical sense (although probably some were).

The "Judah" people or "Jews" (some say the term came from there) were later allowed by the Persians (or Medes and Persians who had whipped the Babylonians) to return, but only the two tribes were involved.

The Worst Scattering—After Jesus

The Romans defeated the last Jewish rebellion in 70 CE, and the Canaan material Promised Land ordained way station was essentially emptied of Jews by forced evacuation. Survivors went to many lands.

It's easy to see that the "milk and honey" concept related to the Vision of a spiritual land.

L A T E R   B A C K G R O U N D

1500s—And The Search For The Spiritual Promised Land Stirring Anew

Many spiritual thoughts stirred in the Reformation's 1500s. And yet, religions old and new still didn't fulfill the need in some hearts for freedom of thought, spiritual aspirations and the progressive climb free of church, government and even police interference. Many were still looking.

Were Canaan and Jerusalem out of the picture as the location of hope? No, but those locations had dimmed. However, the biblical ideal was still afloat, although no longer tethered there, although one anchor, Jerusalem, was as always a significant presence in the overall visionary scene.

In Western minds, the biblical Exodus had essentially failed, or certainly at the least been catastrophically interrupted. Besides, maybe the Middle Eastern thing had mainly to do with Jews, not with Christians.

Crusades however had from the late 1000s until the late 1400s attempted to establish Christian continuity in the prophesied Jewish land, but had also failed.

Small wonder that people were looking elsewhere

High spiritual seekers wanted to get out of the death-sentenced flesh, types of slavery/bondage, and constant troubles—the original Exodus idea—and they held the Vision of some better spiritual place.

But many ordinary spiritual climbers just wanted to get to a better material place—an exit and trek to an understandable land that was at the least ordained to them.

There just had to be some realizable goal to which hope could reasonably attach.

The Age of Exploration was opening westward.

The Reformation dared to expand thought and declare new vistas.

Exodus Moving Again—A Continuation

Jesus had taught the Kingdom of God at hand, discoverable like treasure in a field (Mat. 13:44).

The search, therefore, in its absolute essence, involved more of an awakening to what was already there than a trek, but human thought (the "natural man") traditionally had trouble seeing "things of the Spirit" (I Cor 2:14).

So the practical activity was a restoration of the trek.

The search and the trek along with all covenants had long been opened to the Gentiles, including the Christians.

Note: Lost Hebrew Tribes In Northern Europe And Britain? Hmm. The idea that Jews in a continuing exodus came to North America has long been a theory, and an exciting one, implying that although kicked out of Canaan, their inner compass somehow led them to America where the broader realizations of the original Vision would be fulfilled.

Rev. Karl Schott of Spokane, H.W. Bennett, and Steven M. Collins have taken the subject deeper, publishing materials, maps and books based in plenty of research developing the concept that some of the lost tribes of Israel came into northern Europe and Britain. And furthermore, that they are in the populations as the populations. Are the Saxons the Isaacsons? Well, as a scholar, I am fascinated with many things. And I wouldn't take the theory of the Jewish tribes as some of the northern Europeans (not as Jews per se)—and that many, logically, followed their inner compass to North America and then the later-founded America nation—off the table.

The Mayflower, 1620, torch bearer

The Mayflower carried the spark of the original Exodus in its continuation—the actual torch of the Continuing Exodus—first to North American shores.

This accounts for its surprising position in history, and the many who claim descendancy from that "Plymouth Rock" landing.

That group came for religious freedom. It had no commercial backing, no commercial intent. Its inspiration and motivation were spiritual.

It wasn't a matter of the dedicated people (important as they were) as much as the fact that the inspiration stretched all the way back to Abraham's ordainment regarding the Search he was to make, then the later mud-brick pits of Egypt with the cries of the Hebrews, and the Light that led them out. But I don't think the Mayflower people necessarily saw their move in those terms.

The most important thing was the spark. Things were moving again. The Continuing Exodus. And to the second ordained land (about which see more later below).

The earlier worthy Jamestown, although also with much prayer, was backed commercially with the hope of establishing a commercial enterprise.

The still-earlier St. Augustine in the late 1500s, like all other Spanish settlements and explorations in the tropics and near-tropics, and the Great West, were, despite prayers, on the search for material treasure, land and so on. (But one can feel good things in the revered California mission buildings. The Padres had dedication and prayer, even if the military usually didn't.)

Overtone of the divine were in many humans, many groups, many adventures. But the spark was distinct.

And the spark is still distinct. The nation has split—some say completely into Babylon. But the spark is here, and ordained trekkers are here. Some of the Continuing Exiters are on the surface, although people with the spark may be unaware of it. Some of the spark is latent, and will resurface.

THE MODERNA

The U. S. And Israel Are Inextricably Linked

Of course, the material land can never be the spiritual Promised Land per se, but America is—in its inspired sense only—Way Station Number Two, and the final one. The first one (Canaan area) remains fully ordained, and in modern times has resurrected as the nation of Israel, which now and in the future will be defended by God.

"These two nations" (Ezek. 35:10) stand together in the final onslaught of Pharaoh's chariots so to speak, in the end-time, again seeing their destruction. However, this time it will not be from an escaping status, but from firm establishment in the ordained human lands representing to one extent or another the higher standard.

The End Of All Evil And Death As In Revelation 21:4. 7

Jesus' mission and the Bible's mission is the end of all evil and death, as in Revelation 21:4. 7.

As the divine progressively comes to human thought, evil rises up in the "end-time" (but the end only of evil, not of the good and useful).

Evil is drawn into a series of final battles, but the Spiritual Reality, not "weapons ... carnal" (II Cor. 10:3-5) wins the contests. The physical destruction and deaths come from the "enemy" death-system. (See the Free Booklet, "The Two Opposite Systems" on the karlroebing. com home page.) Also, the system opposite to the divine self-destructs.

God's actions are harmless, expressing the same harmless power as Jesus displayed, with millions of power-Christians doing his works as he expects of followers (Jn. 14:12; Mat. 10:7-8; Acts 1:8; Mk. 16:17-18; Rev. 2:7, 11, 17, 26; 3:5, 12, 21; 21:4, 7 – KJV – and see text printed out in Appendix).

Macro Defeats In The Past, And Why

Israelite leaders had such power that they could open the seas (Moses, Joshua, Elijah, Elisha), be thrown into a fiery brick kiln and come out without a hair singed, while the throwers were burned up. And those were only a few examples of Israelite power by a few leaders.

The macro defeat of the Israelites

So what happened that resulted in their series of colossal defeats? Here it is: The victories depended on degrees of realization of the divine Kingdom, or Higher Realm, or spiritual Promised Land (and on constantly progressing in that awareness).

But instead, in the face of backlash to their spiritual awareness, and from just general downward pull, the population (which never as a whole had the spiritual inspiration of the few leaders) went further and deeper into a material sense of things.

Spiritual awareness requires constant progression or the negative material response to our spiritual awareness clogs our thoughts and brings us down.

But we can awaken at any time.

The macro defeat of the Early power-Christians

The Early Christians with power had a successful run of nearly 300 years. However, Jesus had predicted "night" for works (Jn. 9:4) by his followers who were proceeding under his ordainment in Acts 1:8, and this loss of power came to pass.

But he had also told his disciples that they didn't have the full message of his, which is the full message that overcomes all evil. He told them they couldn't "bear" it at the time (Jn. 16:12).

However, he said the Spirit, Holy Ghost, Comforter would "teach" "all things" that he had taught (Jn. 14:26, see also 16-18).

The Spirit with Jesus' victorious full message today

The promised Spirit is "upon all flesh" in today's "last days" (see Joel 2:28, and the forerunner Acts 2:16-17). With this Spirit and Jesus' victorious full message, evil is going to be finished.

But we take in and use only a little at a time.

The Kingdom And Our Power Over Evil

Elisha's power came after seeing (subjectively) his teacher Elijah ascend into the Kingdom. The later harmless breaking of the siege of Dothan came from Elisha's knowledge of the Kingdom (which he showed to his disbelieving servant).

Jesus said to use the Kingdom to "heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils" (Mat. 10:7-8). Hmm. Somethin's there.

And Jesus gave us the "After this manner ... pray ye," Lord's Prayer—which outline can be greatly expanded by our increased knowledge of the Kingdom—where the Kingdom is used to harmlessly correct human problems.

And then there was Jesus' great statement, that when "this gospel of the Kingdom" is preached, the "end" shall come (the end of evil).

The Kingdom gives power?

Yes. The Higher Reality, which is spiritual, kindly replaces or beneficially modifies the lower pseudo-reality of the carnal or material mind.

It's Spirit vs. matter in a harmless way, and one that IMPROVES the good material things such as our bodies (Mat. 10:7-8) in a transformational (II Cor. 3:18) way up and out.

That way "up and out" is the "Continuing Exodus," right?

Pieces were missing in the past, resulting in defeats

The macro defeats of the past came because the spiritual climbers didn't have all pieces that were available, and couldn't see this. The "natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God" (I Cor. 2:14). The natural man has difficulty discerning them, but this discernment increases. As we read Paul's writings, we see him swinging between instances of not seeing, seeing darkly, and seeing clearly.

A M E R I C A

America Is The Vestibule For The Kingdom Coming
To Human Thought—For All Pieces Coming Into Place, For The Revelation Of The Victory Capability To All The World (The "Beacon For The World"), And For Active Participation In The End Of All Evil

Our great land and its people have a divine orientation. Also a Babylon one. Also a behavior as the Prodigal.

But the main role of America is as the Vestibule for the coming (to awareness) of the ever-present Kingdom of God, the spiritual Promised Land.

Freedom—of religion and many other things

From long before the actual founding of the U.S., prophetic and visionary aspects hung over this land.

The nation's later founding was accompanied by many perceptions by the founders, by preachers, and by many in the general population, of doing God's work.

The Constitution and other of our laws have progressively embodied God-inspired ethics, and particularly have let the vestibule mission come forth.

In the Ellis Island years long after our founding, millions coming here felt strongly that they were coming to the Promised Land (when in physical terms many wound up in the lowest urban existences). But they could see and feel the Vision.

America Helps The Kingdom Awareness

Impressively since about 1830 (see my books) (and sporadically prior to that) Jesus' Early Christianity was reappearing in the U.S. and Europe including Britain. His founded church (not the Catholic Church, see my Free Booklet on the karlroebing.com home page), resurrected at Azusa Street (see my Azusa book).

Kingdom explanation in depth

In the mid-1860s, Mary Baker Eddy began writing about her modern discovery of the Kingdom. Her writings help connect one to the Spirit, where Jesus said his full message resides and is taught. Her work was teachable, and has produced a long and outstanding "track record" of beneficial results.

All pieces in place, but....

With this access to the Spirit's higher teachings (although often still meeting closed thought, or only fragmentary acceptance and use), all pieces are in place now in human thought or within its grasp.

But the upcoming Age of Overcoming still needs much more emergence of the usable and effective Kingdom and its Matthew 10:7-8 healing ordainments, and much more emergence of the usable and effective Early Christianity based in the infilling with the Holy Spirit and power as in Jesus' other healing ordainment, Acts 1:8.

There will have to be much more cleaning up of the human concepts and practices of each of those ordainments, and others, and much more combined effort, with much more presence of Jesus at the head of his overall mission to end all evil on earth. Many more Christian followers of Jesus will have to understand the necessity of their role in ending all evil (Rev. 21:4, 7—note v. 7), and "get with the program." .

Engine of power over evil

The engine of power over evil is now in irreversible motion. There will be no more macro defeats, although there may be some temporary setbacks.

Kingdom of God on earth

Awareness of the divine Kingdom or spiritual Promised Land brings about a modified human entity called the Kingdom of God on earth. And this constantly improves as do its earthly occupants in their transformational progress.

Concepts that climbers leave the planet and depart from the suffering billions is not what will happen. The Kingdom is coming here. The Lord is coming here. Any rapturous advance small or large, individual or group, is an increase in our spiritual awareness right here—and particularly, a major step forward in the power to overcome evil possessed by and exercised by Jesus' followers on earth.

Two Camps On Earth As Things Get Near To Evil's End

"666" will rule the "world," but that is only the concept called by Jesus, "the world" when referring to that which hated him and the disciples (Jn. 15:18-19), and that he overcame (Jn. 16:33), and that he expects us to follow by also overcoming (Rev. 3:21), but as Paul says, "last" (II Cor. 15:26).

Actually, "666" has only the power of the beast before him (Rev. 13:12), and that power cannot touch those who know of their names in heaven (Rev. 13:8)—of their spiritual existence in the spiritual Kingdom.

Their knowledge or awareness constitutes the human appearance of the Kingdom on earth.

Jesus founded the Kingdom on earth

Jesus founded the earthly appearance of the divine Kingdom in his time here (Dan. 2:44, and see Appendix regarding the founding of Jesus' Church), and it can never be eradicated, but shall, in its own way, not traditional destruction, eliminate all opposition.

However, the growth of its structure on earth, and its filling-out with followers, depends on the followers grasping the "how to," and doing his works as he said, either by infilling by the Holy Spirit and power (Acts 1:8) or access to the message and detailed knowledge (Matthew 10:7-8) or, best of all, combinations.

Its steady growth in structure and filling-out will constitute an earthly camp so to speak that cannot be ruled by "666" or any evil force, or death.

And instead of being ruled, this camp will soon thereafter reduce "666" and proceed through several phases of ending all other death and evil, as shown in Revelation 21:4, 7.

Will the globe divide into two geographical camps?

I don't know. But to stay with our America and Continuing Exodus themes, I'm certain that America will be the center of the good camp, whether it is a geographical area or the most impressive (and non-traditional) institution among lots of other activity.

I hope the good camp will be worldwide with stations or nations instead of say, half the globe. But we will see what happens. (Some theorize and gather from prophecies that Christians will be eradicated in some geographical parts of the globe. In other words, part of the globe will be in a reasonable degree of the light, with plenty of the undefeatable power, and the other part in profound darkness.)

Maybe it will be just the ordained U.S. and Israel as separate from a world positioned against "these two nations."

I S R A E L

What Is "Israel"?

"Israel" is the beneficially-changed human condition as the result of encounter with the Kingdom or its spiritual beings—as Jacob was changed to "Israel."

This upgraded human condition is widespread today, as millions are engaged in one degree or another in spiritual healing, and as some transformative stages are evident as the characters, minds and bodies of many are changed upward.

Why a threat to evil?

But why should this be a threat to evil, causing it to attack? Because it evidences the divine Kingdom and its power which will in time and with hundreds of millions of helpers here and just across the line, so to speak, eliminate evil.

Healings are the starting point, one might say, transformations the midrange, and the end of evil the final steps of the Continuing Exodus.

The nation of Israel

The nation of Israel is certainly a beneficially changed human condition from encounters with the divine. It has come up from the pits, from being the dried scattered "bones" of Ezekiel's prophecy and the famous song about the bones coming together again, to being a vibrant nation. It has changed from being a "desert" to the desert blooming as prophesied. It is a major supplier of flowers, produce and fruits to Europe.

Jews are imprinted in their souls with the ancient relationship with Deity and their "chosen" status, which means also their choice. They fell away, but this falling-away is only in material directions. They can turn to the Spirit and its spiritual creation and Reality any time, and surely some as individuals have always done this and are doing this today.

Bearing in their psyche the imprint that Abraham's "seed" (Christians as well as Jews) will cover the earth—that is, be triumphant over evil—the Jews have been persecuted. They haven't been aware of this reason, but it's there.

Retention of identity

Throughout millennia of opposition and destructive, dismembering blows, the Jews are famous for retention of their "identity." The basis is the imprint—retained even if driven to live two lives, as in the Spanish conversion efforts of hundreds of years ago.

Evil's representatives have instinctively felt that the Jews must be eradicated. There may be other reasons presented, but that's the central one, hidden from persecutor and persecuted.

In time, substantial masses of Jews will reach the power-heights of their great figures in ancient times.

The eradicators have lost. All pieces are in place. Macro defeats for those who can challenge the entire package of evil will never occur again. There will be battles, yes, temporary setbacks, yes, but the end-time (of evil) course is set and inevitable.

The real "Israel"

The real "Israel" involves the nations of Israel (with its great early Bible feats) and America (the vestibule for the Kingdom and its power to come forth relative to the end-time of evil).

But the upwardly-changed, and continually thus changing condition, with its implied stages of overcoming of evil, is the real "Israel." It will be attacked, and it will ... overcome.

The Upcoming Age of Judeo-Christian Overcoming

Upcoming is the Age of power-Christianity, of power Judeo-Christian overcoming, which will lead in conjunction with the divine, to the end of all evil and death as in Revelation 21:4, 7.

The Continuing Exodus will have occupied its goal and realized the power that comes with that high consciousness.

IMPORTANCE OF THE BIBLICAL "VISION"

"Where there is no [spiritual] vision, the people perish" (Proverbs 29:18a).

The Vision relates to the spiritual Kingdom. And the spiritual Kingdom provides everything (as Jesus said), because everything is there (Mat. 6:33). We lack, first because we are looking in the wrong place, and second, because we don't want to give up any part of our death-sentenced personal selfhood in favor of our higher identity "hid with Christ in God."

The Vision also empowers, as in Elisha's double power when he saw (subjectively) into the Kingdom at Elijah's ascension (II Ki. 2:1, 9-15). The Vision also protects as well empowers, as in Elisha's spiritual seeing harmlessly breaking the siege of Dothan.

After the ancient biblical Hebrew leaders went to many great heights and resultant events, a disastrous course followed. The mass of the populations were never anywhere near the heights of the exalted leaders. They never had the Vision, and lost whatever part of it they had. They took a material view of God, creation and humanity. They limited their goals to what was possible within material parameters.

They lost their Vision (or didn't bother with it) and thus did "the people perish" figuratively, and many literally.

America And The Vision

The powerful spiritual Vision has hovered over America for some four hundred years at this point, drawing many to these shores.

Jewish immigrant Irving Berlin said in his great song, "thine alabaster cities gleam, undimmed by human tears." Such cities were never in the U.S. or anywhere else on earth for that matter—not yet anyhow. So what did he see and feel that made him write such things about America? It was the Vision that hung over the land. He glimpsed something of the divine Kingdom—at least had a sense of this higher Realm's presence. His was an inspired sense of America far above the material scene.

Dangers today in losing the Vision

America's intense descent into materialism, also false gods and goddesses, puts it on the same course as that of the ancient Israelites.

Where there's no spiritual Vision, the people perish figuratively, and many do the same literally.

And the nation itself is endangered.

AMERICA'S BASIC ROOTS ARE NOT
PRIMARYLY IN GREECE AND ROME,
BUT INSTEAD IN THE DIVINE
SPIRIT AND BIBLE TIMES

We came from Greece and Rome? No, not primarily.

U.S. primary roots are in the Spirit and Bible times.

American ideals once were solid. The new ideals are glitter on top, darkness and attraction into wrong paths, below. I expect the nation and its people to get a wake-up call like that of the mule and the two-by-four. (Since first writing this, a loud wake-up call is apparently upon the nation as of the economic collapse, and I hope it will produce spiritual seeking and consequent good and more stable results based in the Spirit as in Matthew 6:33.)

The American government is structured in an ordained way (whether it knows it or not) to let the Holy Spirit work its will here alongside the secular, without interfering with the Constitution or setting up any state religion.

Jesus' spiritual Kingdom and the spiritual Promised Land are the same unseen but present divine Realm. And that Higher Realm includes a spiritual identity for each of us "hid with Christ in God."

The "city foursquare" is one Scriptural symbol for it, but it is actually infinite Spirit's infinite spiritual Creation.

But symbols can often help us latch onto higher ideas.

Beacon for the world

America as a beacon for the world will resurface in time, and once again lead higher.

The Appendix below with some changes is from pp. 151-152 of my book, Is There A Little-Known Bible Super-Science? It is from a section showing that all inspired movements have been reversed in a degree by five downward steps.

AMERICA IS ORDAINED
BUT FIVE REVERSING STEPS INCLUDE MANY WAYS
WE'RE OFF THE TRACK

America Has The Spiritual Vision Of The Kingdom—
And Is The Vestibule For Its Coming On Earth

A Clean Material "American Dream" Was Once Also Here—But Now It's Dirty

To understand the powerful spiritual Vision that drew so many to these shores, it helps to see that the original Bible concept was a spiritual Land (Heb. 11:16; see too 8, 10), "country," "an heavenly" "city"—really, the divine Kingdom of which Jesus spoke. But the U.S. per se is of course not this ever-present unseen spiritual Promised Land. Part of it is so material, antispiritual and indulgent that some have called it Babylon.

However, the Vision of the divine has been here prior to the U.S. founding, was evident in its founding, was among most of the people back then, and some of the people since then.

But I wonder if most of our people—like most of the Israelites when their power vanished—haven't lost sight of the Higher.

Nonetheless, I believe the nation to be specially ordained to help increase the spiritual Vision, and to be a working vestibule for recognition and use of the divine Kingdom.

How to lose the edge

"Where there is no [spiritual] vision, the people perish" (Pr. 29: 18a). The Vision of the spiritual Kingdom provides, as Jesus said, because everything is there (Mat. 6:33). The Vision also empowers, as in Elijah, Elisha and double power (II Ki. 2:1, 9-15). The Vision also protects as in Elisha harmlessly lifting the siege of Dothan (II Ki. 6:15-23). In the "Bible pattern" (my term), good earthly results occur after divine encounters. The provision, empowerment and protection are all in the "Bible pattern" of good earthly results after divine encounters.

After the ancient biblical Hebrew leaders went to many great heights and resultant events, a disastrous course followed. The mass of the populations were never anywhere near the heights of the exalted leaders. They never had the Vision, and lost whatever part of it they had. They took a material view of God, creation and humanity. They limited their goals to what was possible within material parameters.

They lost their Vision (or didn't bother with it) and thus did "the people perish" figuratively, and many literally.

But Back To America's Downward Drift:

Down Step 1—Losing The High Inspiration

America's sense of high spiritual destiny has been obscured in a blaze of material goals, fictional, empty, violent, vicarious, often sordid entertainment, license, celebrity demigods and goddesses, and sensual pursuits of all kinds imaginable and unimaginable—all pulling lives away from standards we once enshrined.

What of Canaan/Israel? That material land remains valid, but the spiritual search continues. And the nation of Israel is inextricably linked to the prophetic sense of America, and vice versa.

The Mayflower seekers for religious freedom brought the torch of the Continuing Exodus (spiritual search, exit from the death-sentenced flesh) to the New World.

US primary roots are in the Spirit and Bible times. Greek and Roman input is secondary. A wake-up call like that of the mule and the two-by-four will reorient us on our place and activity in the great end-time struggle of good vs. evil. I hope that wake-up call is on America the Prodigal now in the economic turn-down, but it may take more than this to turn the nation from matter to Spirit (which then, as in Jesus' ministry, changes and upgrades human experience, making it livable and controllable, not dangerous and controlling us).

Down Step 2—Down "Doctrine" Forming

The old American "doctrine" was idealistic, but solid. The new is glitter on top, darkness and attraction into wrong paths, below.

Down Step 3—Pyramid (The Opposite Of Democracy) Installed

Rule-from-the-top money or corporate type non-democratic form of government—not by the people—is clamping itself onto the head of our democracy-based republic. It needs to be seen and tossed off.

The American government is structured in an ordained way (whether it knows it or not) to let the Holy Spirit work its will here alongside the secular, without interfering with the Constitution or setting up any state religion.

Down Step 4—Attacks On Dissent, The Bottom, And Balance

The big bad pyramid (see the Free Booklet of that title on the karlroebing.com home page) attacks dissent, creates and maintains the bottom for scapegoat-outlet and power-exercise reasons, and eliminates balance.

Note on "666": " The pyramidal organizational structure worldwide amalgamates and culminates in the single pyramid "666" ruling the material world but not those who know the Kingdom (Rev. 13:12, 8) and their spiritual identity. The antidote for the pyramid is replacement by Jesus' spiritual Kingdom. It and the spiritual Promised Land are the same unseen but ever-present divine Realm symbolized by the "holy city" "foursquare." We each have spiritual identity there (present and available, we just don't see it or use it)—a spiritual image and likeness "hid with Christ in God" (Col. 3:3). This spiritual man—like the "wind," Jesus said (Jn. 3:8)—is different from Adam, different from "man born of a woman" who is "of few days and full of trouble," and available like Christ here and now to harmlessly change even our worst sins and produce beneficially upgraded temporal human conditions as we work out way up and out.

Down Step 5—The Bottom Progressively Cut Off And Oppressed

In the world's system and U.S. today, the bottom has always been cut off and oppressed—but this does not belong in the U.S.

Instead, Jesus ministered to the bottom.

Summary

America's ordained spiritual activity includes being the vestibule for the Kingdom awareness coming to earth, and as the final way station on the Continuing Exodus. This role will resurface in time from reversals, and once again radiate hope, methods and fulfillment for others in this suffering world.

In this sense, America will have attained a new high level from which to radiate its real beacon for the world.

Is There A Little-Known Bible Super-Science
with some changes

THE CHURCH JESUS FOUNDED

JESUS' CHURCH IS NOT THE SAME AS THE FORMAL
CATHOLIC CHURCH—AND IT IS NOW HARMLESSLY
TRANSFORMING CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT CHURCHES, PEOPLE, AND OTHERS

Jesus founded an entity through many statements and instructions both expressed and implied, and expectations that we become overcomers (see list below and list with full text earlier above).

Bible healing and related benefits were central both to his ministry and the church he founded. However, neither Catholic nor traditional Protestant churches practiced power-Christianity until relatively recently, and not fully today.

Nonstandard, the church Jesus founded is not a typical church in today's sense. And it was only partly developed on earth when it had its nearly 300-year first great run in the Early power-Christianity that demised at Constantine. (Jesus had predicted "night" for works—Jn. 9:4).

After a very long slumber, with some "outbreaks" along the way, Early Christianity began reappearing from essentially about 1830 forward.

Jesus' actual Church resurrected in the Los Angeles Bonnie Brae Street/Azusa Street revival 1906 forward (see my book), immediately going worldwide to partly fulfill more of Acts 1:8's interrupted ordainments from Jesus to go "unto the uttermost part of the earth."

We will gradually see the emergence of much more form and substance of Jesus' founded Church. It is a living relationship between Jesus in his spiritual state at the head (under the inclusive, not separated, infinite Father in whom we live, move and have our spiritual being). This "one" divine package (Jn. 17:20-23) is hid (to "natural" eyes) in Christ.

Through Jesus' Church on earth, his followers in material existence—under the carnal mind's sentence of death to happen at some point—can work their way up into realizing the spiritual creation, or Kingdom, and higher identity in Spirit's image.

Below are some of the founding statements.

Acts 1:4,5,8 (Early Christian Ordainments).

Mark 16:15 ("Great Commission").

John 14:12; Mark 16:17-18; Matthew 10:7-8 (instructions to heal).

Matthew 16:15-18 (founding on Peter's perception of Jesus' spiritual identity and what this meant for humankind, not on "flesh and blood"—see also Jn. 6:54, 60-61, 63, 67-68).

Matthew 28:19-20 (with us always).

Revelation 2:7, 11, 17, 26; 3:5, 12, 21; 21:4, 7 (more instructions to be overcomers—leading to evil's end at Revelation 21:4, 7).

Fellowship statements below—one by Jesus, others by followers:

John 17:20-23 (Jesus telling us of the oneness fellowship with him and with the Father).

I Corinthians 1:9 (where we're called to the "fellowship of his Son").

Philippians 1:5 (where Paul speaks of "your fellowship in the gospel").

Philippians 3:10 (the "fellowship of his sufferings").

I John 1:3 ("that ye...may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ").

The Old Testament prophecy of the founding:

Dan. 2:44 (as to the establishment by Jesus in his time, of the Kingdom on earth). This was done by Jesus' overcoming of the world, setting the foundation to be filled out later by him and us—essentially his nonstandard church).

Two churches—Jesus' founded church and the Catholic, which are not the same

The first church for nearly 300 years was Jesus' power-Christian direct-worship church under him (he said he was with us always,* but even his Early Christianity believed he was absent).

The Early power-Christianity then demised, taken over by a stratified indirect-worship intermedial-layered priest-class formal church concept that had been gradually gaining traction. By its indirect worship, this church concept deliberately or inadvertently filtered out works of overcoming of evil (which works of overcoming need direct encounter in the Bible pattern for best results).

The effective vanishing and banishing of works fulfilled Jesus' prophecy of "night" for works of his Father (Jn. 9:4).

The second church concept didn't replace Jesus' church until after CE 312. Its institutional form under Constantine took over, after which the formalism then grew for centuries.

The new organizational structure was built around the absence not the presence of Jesus. There were indirect-worship layers, rituals, and an intermedial clergy class self-appointed and holier than the congregation members. These were stand-ins (vicar comes from vicarious) for the absent Jesus.

This formal church was then retrofitted back over the Early Church, obscuring it. The retrofit claimed Peter as a Pope. Instead, Peter was and is the foundation man of Jesus' founded church, due to Peter's awareness of Jesus' spiritual being.

This in no way criticizes the many inspired people who were and are members of this second church, many with lifetimes of helping others, and bringing the Bible forward through the centuries.

*Note: There is discussion, of course, as to what "alway" or "always" means, but I believe it means Jesus was and is with us always in his spiritual state, although we might not see it. As the Bible tells us, Christ followed Moses (I Cor. 10:4), Jesus in his preexistent spiritual state personally knew Abraham and vice versa (Jn. 8:56-58), and knew David, and vice versa (Mat. 22:41-45). Also present ("hid"—Mat. 13:44—Jesus told us, thus presumed to be spiritual) was the Kingdom. So it's a matter of seeing what's here already (Mat. 13:15). Indirect worship was built on absence not presence, with rituals giving spot and temporary connectings. Today's popular concept called the "Rapture" (I Thes. 4:16, 17), would appear to be the realization by a large group, of Jesus in his spiritual state right here as "always." Of course, individuals or groups in the past have had this experience, but the predicted large group appears to be of major significance in the program to end all evil as in Revelation 21:4, 7. The group members will also find their higher selves in the image of Spirit "hid with Christ" in God (Col. 3:3-4). In connecting our thought with Jesus, we're not going to go anywhere, as popularly believed by many, but instead will be equipped with higher spiritual knowledge and the close relationship on High enabling them to do Jesus' works and be better harvest workers right here. Jesus and the Kingdom—"Thy Kingdom come"—are coming right here where they have always been but unseen, instead of our going to some remote location. So they can put on work (not vacation) clothes, because in their higher consciousness "with the Lord" forever right here where he's always been in his spiritual state, there'll be plenty of essential work right here until evil's end.
